THE BIEMANN-HUGHES WEDDING.

Popular Young Couple Wedded Last Wednesday Evening.

An event about which centered more universal interest than any other of the present season was the marriage, last Wednesday evening, June 12th, at 8.30 o'clock, of Miss Annie Henrietta Biemann and Wade Hughes, both being popular young people of Walhalla. The Biemann residence on Faculty Hill was made especially attractive for this interesting occasion, the hall and rooms of the first floor being tastefully decorated.

The bridal party descended the stairway and entered the parlor to the strains of Mendelssohn's "Wedding March," the groom with his best man, W. G. Martin, of Port Gibson, Miss., coming first, followed by Dick Biemann and Rieppe Mehriens, of Charleston, Misses Ida Biemann and Pauline Hughes, little Misses Katherine Adams and Katherine Bowen as flower girls; Miss Gertrude Biemann as maid of honor, and the bride, leaning on the arm of her brother, Rieppe Biemann. The party paused just under the wedding bell, where the ceremony was performed by Rev. J. B. Umberger, of the Lutheran church, assisted by Rev. G. M. Wilcox, of the Presbyterian church. The impressive ring ceremony of the Lutheran church was used.

The home was beautifully decorated with many flowers and ferns and was brilliant with the lights of many pink and white candles. The parlor was in white and green, the mantels being banked with ferns and white sweet peas. The dining room was in pink, and the bride's table was a dream of loveliness, with garlands of sweet peas festooned from a large bell done in white and pink hung over the center of the table, the garlands reaching to the four corners. Candelabra holding pink candles were placed at either end, and numerous others around the room shed a soft radiance over all.

The bride was charming in an exquisite hand embroidered gown of silk marquisette, fastened at the throat with a pearl brooch, the gift of the groom, and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and valley lilies. The maids wore white lingerie gowns with pink sashes and carried bouquets of pink roses, while the tiny flower girls wore white and carried baskets of pink sweet peas.

Following the wedding service the bride and groom received the hearty congratulations and good wishes of the large number of guests present at the ceremony, and from 8.30 until 11.30 o'clock the home was the scene of much gaiety and pleasure as friends came to greet the happy young couple.

Those in the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Adams, of Rock Hill; Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Hughes and Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Steck. Assisting in the dining room were Mrs. J. R. Hughes, Misses Daisy Stronk, Roxie Reid and Sue Maxwell, while presiding over the punch bowls were Misses Lillie Hughes, Bertha Schnapacher and Hattie Shelor. Miss Alice Strong had charge of the bride's register.

As the guests left the dining room they were met by Misses Julia Maxwell and Annie Reid into an adjoining room to view the numerous and beautiful presents, which so fittingly attested to the wide popularity of the young couple.

The young ladies who served were Misses Irene White, Lula Busch, Ruth Kay and Theo. Hughes.

Mr. and Mrs. Hughes left Walhalla Friday morning for a short trip to points of interest among the resorts in the mountains of this state and North Carolina. They will be at home to their friends after the 22d of June.

There is no more popular young couple than Mr. and Mrs. Hughes, and we join with hosts of other friends in extending to them the heartiest of good wishes for a long and pleasant journey through life.

BLEASE AND JONES MEET.

Predicted Personal Encounter Failed to Materialize at Sumter.

Sumter, June 18.—Governor Cole L. Blease and Judge Ira B. Jones, candidates for Governor of South Carolina, met here to-day upon the same stump and there were no "dead men in trenches" as had been predicted, "even no personal encounter," and but little disorder. It should be remarked, however, that the opening meeting was used by the two champions chiefly for sparring for openings, for taking each other's measure preparatory for the body blows to be delivered later.

Governor Blease, who spoke first, read his entire speech from manuscript, and made no direct reference to his opponent, devoting most of his time to the defense of his administration and to outlining his present platform.

Judge Jones followed, and also read from manuscript the various planks in his platform, but after finishing the manuscript he fell upon Governor Blease and began to score his pardon record and for intimating that the corporations were back of Jones.

This aroused and stirred the crowd, both Jones and Blease supporters, and it was during this arraignment of the Governor that Judge Jones was interrupted four or five times by cries of "Hurrah for Blease," from several supporters that stood directly in front of him.

"Could Raise the Roof." "Just two men hollered for Blease," shouted Judge Jones defiantly. "If I were to ask the Jones men to holler they would raise the court house roof. Something has been said about the corporations being lined up behind me. If they are, I don't know it."

"I do know that W. H. Andrews, president of the Atlantic Coast Lumber Company, one of the largest corporations in the State, is one of the noisiest and most blatant supporters of Governor Blease. It was by a decision of the Supreme Court that thousands of acres of timber were released from the grasp of his company to the people of South Carolina."

Applause was divided.

Blease received liberal demonstrations of applause, with the shade of difference being in favor of Judge Jones, but there seemed to be no great general outburst from the crowd for either side. The crowd gave the impression of wanting to hear and think.

FOUR YORK COUNTY KILLINGS.

Sunday's Record—Rock Hill Policeman Slays Mill Operative.

Rock Hill, June 16.—Four killings in York county in one day is a sad record, but such is that of this Sabbath.

Early this morning Henry H. Putnam, about 20 years old, an employee of the Victoria Cotton Mill, was shot and almost instantly killed by Policeman Eubanks, near the mill.

This afternoon, in a Black street tenement, Elzie Bratton killed another negro, named John Campbell, in a row over a woman. It is said.

At Roddey's Station one negro was killed in a "crap" game by another, and the fourth homicide reported was from Fort Mill, a negro being the victim.

Coroner Louthian held the inquest to-day over the body of young Putnam. The gist of the evidence showed that Putnam, with three other young fellows, was at the letter box in front of the mill, and that Putnam swung on a passing freight train and rode about the length of a car box; that Eubanks came out from the other side of the train when it passed and arrested Putnam. After they had gotten out of sight, coming towards the city, a shot was heard and Putnam's companions and Night Watchman King, of the mill, ran up to find Putnam had been shot. He died in a few moments. No witnesses saw the shooting, so far as has appeared.

City Attorney Wilson, at the inquest, stated that Eubanks admitted the shooting, but claimed self-defense.

The verdict was that Henry Putnam came to his death by a pistol shot in the hands of Gus Eubanks, while in discharge of his duty as a policeman of the city of Rock Hill.

TEACHERS' INSTITUTE JUNE 24.

Names of Those Who Will Have Charge of Work.

Greenville, June 17.—To the Teachers of Oconee County: The Teachers' Institute will open next Monday morning at 9 o'clock in the auditorium of the Seneca High School. There will be formal exercises, giving the teachers a hearty welcome to Seneca. I trust that every teacher in the county who has the time to spare will attend this institute, for it will be worth your while. Prof. H. T. Cox, Furman University; Prof. Sease, Clemson College; Miss Hattie Goldsmith, Greenville High School; Prof. Hadden, Clemson College, and myself will have charge of the institute.

Miss Hattie Goldsmith will have charge of the primary instruction for the first two weeks, and for the advantage of showing the teacher-pupils just how to manage a class of little folks, Miss Goldsmith has requested me to call upon the parents of Seneca who have children for the first grade to send them to the school for one hour every morning. Miss Goldsmith is considered one of the best primary teachers in the State, for she has been teaching the first grade in the Greenville City Schools for more than twenty years.

Understand that we want beginners, and not those who have been to school for a year. Teachers of the county all understand the requirements for the institute, and the part of studies, and so it will be explained in detail next Monday morning.

We hope we will have the largest attendance ever recorded in the county. Hoping to see many teachers on the opening day, I am,

Very truly, M. E. Brockman.

STORM CLAIMS 26 VICTIMS.

Heavy Property Damage Inflicted by Elements in Missouri.

Kansas City, Mo., June 16.—Twenty-six persons are known to have been killed and many injured by a storm that passed over Central West Missouri late Saturday, demolishing buildings, tearing down wires and leaving the smaller towns and country homes completely wrecked.

From meager reports that have been received it is believed that the storm that struck Kansas City late yesterday, causing the death of two persons and doing damage amounting to many thousands of dollars, swept to the south through Bates county, where it left a trail of death and destruction. The path of the storm there was half a mile wide and five miles long. Between Merwin and Adrian nineteen persons were killed.

At Creighton, in Cass county, two are known to be dead, while at Leeton, in Johnson county, two are dead and unverified reports say others have been killed.

After striking Merwin, the storm took a northwesterly course, passing Sedalia, where the wind did much damage.

Two Killed During Worship.

Zanesville, Ohio, June 16.—Two were killed and a score injured early to-day when a cyclone struck here, toppling the steeple of St. Thomas' Catholic church through the roof, while services were being held.

Thomas Skilton's head was crushed by falling stone and he was instantly killed. John P. Dinan, crushed, died two hours later in a hospital. Father Roach was administering the last sacrament to Skilton. The storm cut a path about a block wide through the town. More than 500 houses were badly damaged and fifty families were rendered homeless.

Two Killed. Claremore, Okla., June 16.—Two men were killed and buildings and trees destroyed late last night by a severe rain, wind and electrical storm, which was general over the country.

FIRST CONVENTION ECHOES.

Root (Taft's Man "Friday") Chosen
Chairman, 558 to 502.

Convention Hall, Chicago, June 18.—Amidst the clamor of yells from rival factions, and the friendly shouts of State delegations, the fifteenth Republican National Convention began its history-making course at noon. There was none of the serious disorder that had been feared. A few minutes after the gavel had crashed its summons to the delegates, quiet had been obtained, and Chaplain Callaghan repeated his prayer.

Immediately after this expression of reverence, however, developments came like shots from a rapid fire gun.

First Big Victory. Taft men drew first blood in the convention when Chairman Rosewater, after listening to arguments of the Roosevelt and Taft forces, ruled out of order the demand of the Roosevelt men that the temporary roll be amended. By the proposed amendment, contesting Roosevelt delegates that were under contest would have been substituted for Taft delegates admitted by the national committee. The action of Chairman Rosewater prevented a vote by the convention on the Roosevelt proposition.

Root Elected. In the contest for temporary chairman of the convention the squabble for supremacy was heated and close between the two contestants, Elihu Root and McGovern, of Wisconsin. The final vote stood Root 558, McGovern 502. Mr. Root assumed the duties of his office amid cheers from some and loud cries of "Haw! haw! haw!" and "Receiver of stolen goods!" from his opponents. Several rows were nipped in the bud by squads of policemen hastened to various parts of the hall.

Jilted Lover's Awful Deeds. Salisbury, N. C., June 16.—Angered, it is claimed, by a second rejection of his proposal of marriage, F. D. Chunn, aged 23, shot and instantly killed Miss Burnadotte Rouecko, aged 19, here to-night in the presence of her sister, and then committed suicide. Both families are well known in this community.

The shooting occurred at the home of the girl's uncle, where Chunn and Miss Rouecko had stopped, together with Miss Hortense Rouecko and Charles Gable, after attending church services. Gable and the deceased girl's sister had gone for a drink of water, leaving Chunn and Miss Burnadotte on the front porch. When a few feet away they heard revolver shots. Rushing back they were confronted by Chunn, who commanded them to "get back" and then placed the pistol against his temple and fired. The dead body of the girl was found by his side.

There Were Some Surprises

in the entries, among the number being the failure of T. S. Connor, of Orangeburg, to enter the race for Governor. He announced his candidacy several weeks ago, but his pledge was not filed. Another announced candidate who failed to enter the race was H. H. Evans, of Newberry, who a good while ago announced his candidacy for Attorney General, and who made the statement recently that he would "run against Fraser Lyon if he had to run from behind jail bars." In this race an unannounced entrant was Barney B. Evans, of Columbia, who has been in the race for the office before.

It is now well known that not more than one case of rheumatism in ten requires any internal treatment whatever. All that is needed is a free application of Chamberlain's Liniment and massaging the parts at each application. Try it and see how quickly it will relieve the pain and soreness. Sold by all dealers.

TWO CONVICTED OF MURDER.

Some Horrible Details Depicted by One Witness.

Florence, June 15.—The jury in the case of Harry McIntosh and John Williams, charged with the murder of little Andrew Jackson, brought in a verdict of guilty at 11.30 o'clock to-day. The court room was filled with people, a number of whom were ladies who had sat throughout the day listening to the case. The arguments were completed at 10 o'clock, the judge charged them at 10.30, and the jury retired immediately, being in the room about forty minutes. There was a slight demonstration when the jury handed up their verdict, but Judge Shinn quelled it in a second.

The usual motion for new trial was made.

A number of witnesses were examined, but perhaps the evidence most damaging to the defendants was the following statement of Freddie McIntosh while in jail:

I was standing on Evans street, near Mr. Jordan's, where John and Harry passed by in the hack, driving the gray mare, and saw little Andrew Jackson jump up behind the hack. I saw Harry take him by the arm and get him in the hack. Harry told John to drive fast, and they went on back to the stable. I went on back home and was standing at the wood pile and I saw Harry hold Andrew and John hit him two hard licks with a piece of iron, once on the back and once on the side of the head, and Andrew hollered, "Oh, Lord, I am dead and can't see my mamma any more; I would have been home if those boys had not held me on that hack and brought me here." This was under the hack shed. William Foxworth was there, too, and saw everything. He knows more than I do about it, for he was back there with them.

When John hit he fell to the ground and Harry jumped on him and choked him; they then put him in the long stable. This was between 7 and 8 o'clock. He stayed there until the boys came back from the depot that night, then John and Harry brought him in the house and put him in the closet, near the telephone, and covered him up. They kept him in the closet until the next night about 10 o'clock. John and Harry took him out of the closet and put him in the hack; they were driving "Big John," and carried him off. The next morning I heard them talking together at the depot, and they said they had Andrew in a safe place; that he would soon rot in that car box. When they took him out of the house he was wrapped up in two or three of my mother's old skirts—one black and one yellow. They said they were going off from here. I told them if they did I would tell Mr. Burch. They said I had better not tell Mr. Burch nothing. On the night of the killing my mother was cooking supper when the boys carried him in the house and my sister, Lucile, was sick in bed, and my father was in Wilmington, N. C., on his run. He did not come back until the next night. I do not think my father and mother knew anything about it, and William did not help John and Harry, but he was there and saw it all.

Freddie (his X mark) McIntosh. Signed in the presence of Dr. E. M. Mathews, H. M. Hill, Thos. S. Burch, at jail in Florence, May 23, 1912.
